

THIRD MATCH FOR THE JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE STATE.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.
NEW-HAMBURGH, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The third contest for the junior championship of the State and a silver ball came off at New-Hamburgh to-day between the famous Volunteers of the City of Poughkeepsie and the Active of Wappingers Falls. The Volunteers and their friends left Poughkeepsie on the 1:05 p. m. train, in three cars, on the Hudson River Railroad, arriving on the grounds at this place in ample time, where they formed a line of honor and were escorted to the residence of the

The match created a mutual excitement, as considerable newspaper talk had been indulged in by both clubs in regard to the outcome of the game. The question of superiority is now fully settled as the Actives have positively proven themselves no match for the wins Volunteers.

THE WINNING.

The Actives went to the test on the field with vigor, the Volunteers watching each movement of their antagonists with cat-like stillness and putting the Actives out in a few moments, their record showing only one run.

The Volunteers, however, played finely, the Actives however, showing great skill, surprising every one, putting out two of the Volunteers before one run had been made, and ending the first innings by leaving their opponents a "free

The Volunteers made splendid beings as the start the Active was a little rough, but fighting strongly, succeeding, however, in making but one run. The Volunteers went to the bat greatly encouraged over their success and played brilliantly, the first four innings being won by the Volunteers. Active pulled their cap and "celebrated" them and going to the field two runs ahead of the Active, even innings.

The Active returned the clutch and "backed" the balls unmercifully, seemingly doing the contrast the ground back by inch, if such an expression may be used, and setting for the field with four additional runs.

The Volunteers, on taking the bat, worked well enough at first, but then they showed the "backed" vigilance in the matter of holding bases, one of them suffering a "put out" from his own carelessness. They rallied, however, and closed the inning with eight runs, thus leading the Active six runs, even innings.

FIFTH INNING.

Active to the bat. Volunteers in the field; the latter apparently finding it a difficult matter to get the ball from the bat. The Active, however, was much concerned at the result, and Wappingers Falls folks cheering lustily, the Active boys going to the field with six more runs.

The Volunteers opened their game brilliantly, Locum eliciting a home run, and he sent the ball hundreds of feet beyond the bases, making a splendid home run. But, secretly and behind their backs, they pressed their game, ending the inning with a heavy score of ten runs, leading the Active ten runs, even game.

SIXTH INNING.

Active went to the bat greatly discouraged and their embarrassment was made doubly so by Nelson and Flagg of the Volunteers making two splendid fly-catches on the start. They left for the field with only one run.

The Volunteers seemed to slack off on this inning, they making only two runs.

SEVENTH INNING.

It was now evident that the Volunteers had everything their own way. The crowd, however, was not to be so easily deceived. Consequently they went to the bat much elated and cheered the basemen like reindeer, leaving the bat with five runs, the total score standing Active 30 and Volunteers 32.

This inning opened with considerable excitement inasmuch as the Active played splendidly, and the cast was drawing high. At one time the crowd pressed upon the players, the players, however, were not to be so easily pushed, and they refused to squelch it. The Active left for the field with five runs. The Volunteers assumed the bat, playing magnificently, paying no attention to anything but actual business and entirely ignoring the crowd. They had a very hot set of bats, and the crowd of grown men and boys, the Active deprecating such an untoward proceeded, the Volunteers ending the inning with a score of 10 to 0 runs.

NINTH INNING.

Crustfallen and discouraged, the Actives went to the bat. They received a "skunk" and retired from the field. The Volunteers took up the cudgel and rattled off a splendid playing. Roden, the Tuxedo boy, was the hero, the game ending in a victory for the Volunteers, they winning the silver ball and Junior's Championship of the State for the second time by a score of 35 to 1 against the Actives. So ended the contest, the result of which was the game the cheer from the Poughkeepsie people were so deafening, the Actives behaving like gentlemen and accepting their defeat meekly but like men.

LARGE FIRE AT BALLSTON.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

An extensive fire occurred in Ballston last night—the largest that ever took place in that village. The large manufacturing establishment known as “Chapman’s Glenn Woolen Mills,” owned by Messrs. C. H. & G. W. Chapman, and located on the east side of the village, was the scene of the disaster. The fire caught on the first floor, and quickly spread through the building, mounting upward through the four stories of the mill, and consuming the machinery, a large quantity of manufactured goods and raw material. The loss was estimated at $20,000. The Messrs. Chapman were insured for $20,000; insured for $16,000. Mr. White’s loss was from $10,000 to $15,000; insured for the former amount. Forty operatives are thrown out of employment by the catastrophe.

The factory, which Ballou & Sons, Stratford County, has ever been visited in connection with that village last evening, and resided in the almost total destruction of the manufacturing establishment known as Chapman's Glen Woolen Mills, owned by the Messrs. E. H. & C. Chapman, but leased and occupied by M. A. J. White for the manufacture of broadcloth.

The fire caught at 6 o'clock, from the friction of a shaft in the wheel-room, and burned until 12 o'clock last night. The material will not fall short of $25,000, which is principally covered by insurance. About 40 operatives were employed at the time of the fire, though the capacity of the mill was much greater.

REVERDY JOHNSON ON THE COTTON TAX.

New-York, Sept. 30, 1866.

DEAR SIR: Your note of the 3d is received here. The question you have put to me I have heretofore considered, and my opinion is that the tax of three cents imposed by the act of Congress you refer to, is unconstitutional and I believe the Court will so decide.

Yours truly,
REVERDY JOHNSON.

Planters of that county are concerting measures to have the question tested in the Supreme Court.
